SHERIFF DAVIDSON ON TRIAL.

FIVE HOURS SPENT IN GETTING A JURY.

THE TESTIMONY EXPECTED TO BE COMPLETED TO-DAY-DECISIONS IN THE CASES OF BOWE AND WERTHEIMER.

WERTHEIMER.

Five hours were spent yesterday in getting a jury to try the indictment against Sherift Davidson. One hundred and fifty jurors had been sumoned; seventy-five appeared and thirty-six were called before the panel was completed. The first one called, Robert O'Brien, stock-broker, of No. 19 East Twenty-sixth-st., became the foreman. Hermann Miller, of No. 230 East Sixty-fifth-st., superintendent of the Devoe Manufacturing Company, had a friend who had said to hum that "Davidson was a good fellow." He was promptly challenged by the District Attorney, but the court over-ruled the challenge and he was put in the box. Later he was peremptorily challenged. The same result was reached in the case of Nathan Eckstien, of No. 347 Third-ave. He hadasked a man what "petit," in his summons meant, and thought he ought to be excused from serving in the jury. The judge took a different view. Amos H. Brewster, of the Second Ward, placed his hand back of his ear and leaned forward in such a ladicrous fashion in his effort to hear the first question that the court room rang with laughter. He was much bewildered, but understood the Court immediately when told he was excused. William H. Warner, of No. 145 West Fifteenth-st., a member of the Union League Club, was not present at the club when the city Government was denounced in resolutions, knew nothing about them, and had no opinion in the case. He was accepted, but was retired on a peremptory challenge. As finally made up the jury consisted of the following besides the foreman:

Joseph F. Reith, wiremaker, of No. 237 Third-ave.; Theodore W. Wiley, retail clothier, of No. 237 Third-ave.; Theodore W. Wiley, retail clothier, of No. 237 Third-ave.; Theodore W. Wiley, retail clothier, of No. 237 Third-ave.; Theodore W. Wiley, retail clothier, of No. 214 West Fourteenth-st.; Charles P. Fierce, cashier of the American Insurance Company; William W. Hance, broker, of No. 31 East Seventy-second-st.; Thomas Feld, a retired tea merchant, of No. 27 West Fifty-seventh-st., Afram seig

Latz and Pairick O'Connor.

No one was admitted to the court-room except the lawyers, jurors, witnesses and reporters. Judge Barrett was on the bench. Sheriff Davidson sat with his counsel, Joseph H. Choate, Aaron J. Vanderpoel and W. Bourke Cockran. District-Attorney Olney and Assistant Adams appeared for the prosecution. The indetenent contains two counts, one for extortion and the other for grand lareeny in the second degree, and is based on a leged false representations by which the Sheriff obtained more money from the city as expenses in ranning the Luddow Street Jail for October last than he was entitled to by law. After the jury had been sworn Mr. Cheate asked the Court to order the District-Attorney to elect which count he would try. Mr. Olney argued against this motion and said that the identity of the transactions was all that was necessary. The court ruled that the prosecution could not be required to elect at this stage of the case.

Mr. Adams made the opening address to the jury. In it he said:

Mr. Adams made the opening address to the July. In it he said:

The offence is charged against a public officer who by the force of his position had the handling of certain amoneys. The heriff was entitled to certain expenses incurred in the Ladlow Street Jail for cooks and cleaners, and also to 75 cents a day for each of certain prisoners there confined. For October, 1883, he presented to the city a bill for these charges to which were attached several receipts from cooks and cleaners as vouchers for money paid—in all a charge of $125. We are able to show that the receipts were not signed by the persons names appear on them and that the persons named were not paid any such sinu as claimed. In the case of Philip Kiernan, who is deputy-warden, a charge of $60 for cleaning appears. He never did any cleaning; he is paid $100 per month as salary. A gane of prisoners clean the jail, and they get no wages for it. They get the privileze of sitting up a little later—that's all. The fact is that the sheriff only paid out $30 and charged and collected $125. He falsely pretended he had paid the larger when he had baid only the lesser sum.

Mr.Adams was intercupted by Mr. Choace and Mr.

paid only the lesser sum.

Mr. Adams was interrupted by Mr. Choate and Mr. Vanderpoel, who objected to his bringing in matters not connected with the direct points in issue, and the court sustained the objection. The testimony for the prosecution will be begun this morning. Both sides said that they could finish the trial to-day. The Judge warned the jury not to talk with anybody or allow any one to talk to them about the case, and also not to talk among themselves about it until they came to consider their verdict.

Before the trial began Judge Barrett gave his decisions in the cases of Warden Bowe and Clerk Jacob Wertheimer. In the case of Bowe, who had demarted to the inductment charging him with perjury, the Judge held that the eath taken by him was not such an eath as the law would construct to be perjury, and that the demurrer should be sustained and the prisoner discharged. In the case of Wertheimer the court sustained the indictment and overruled the demurrer.

THE ADDITIONAL WATER SUPPLY. PLANS AND SUGGESTIONS OF CRIEF ENGINEER

Chief Engineer Newton, of the Department of Public Works, at the meeting of the Aqueduct Commissioners yesterday submitted a communication setting forth that the computation of storage required in the Croton basin made by O. B. Fotter at the last meeting was in error to the extent of $5.520,000 gallons. He included that amount in the average flow of the river while it was really storage drawn during the year from the various reservoirs. Chief Engineer Church handed in a report which was in substance as follows:

On the question whether water should be admitted or port which was in substance as follows:

On the question whether water should be admitted or excluded from the Aqueduct various considerations are involved. If the Aqueduct tunnel is to be lined its whole length so as to shut out entirely the ground water, the water from the Croton River will be brought to the city with only a small admixture of foreign water, but masonry of the best description will admit water under heavy pressure. From an economical point of view, it is best to admit the ground water into the Aqueduct. This plan will save millious of dollars in the cost of anssonry. The water which will find its way into the aqueduct will come mostly from the streams which are similar in quality to those of the Croton River.

The water which will find its way into the aquisduct will come mostly from the streams which are similar in quality to those of the Croton River.

The commissioners signed the plans and maps for the proposed aqueduct submitted by the engineers. Chief Engineer Church submitted by the engineers. Chief Engineer Church submitted a report on the Quaker Bridge Dam, saying in part:

It is fallacious to suppose that the building of the Bodom Dam together with the utilization of storage in Croton Lake will be sufficient to satisfy the city for a term of years, and give time for further increase as occasion requires. To meet immediate domands with the present extravagant use of water the new aquisduct must furnish enough additional water to insure a supply of 200,000,000 gallons must be provided at once. The Quaker Bridge Dam is the most advisable, economical and expeditious means of securing this large additional amount. The Croton River varies in its flow from 10,000,000 gallons to 8,000,000,000 gallons daily. This irregular flow must be equalized by storage captured in flood thoses. As soon as the new aqueduct supplies sufficient water to give the pressure required in the mains and houses there will be greatly increased consumption. The waste in the city because of poor primbing is great, and will be greater with increased pressure. When the new works are completed the consumption will not be less than 150 gallons per capita, and the population will be 1,500,000. Counting the Bronx River supply as 10,000,000 gallons daily, and the appliances for checking waste at 122 gallons per capita, and it leaves 134 gallons per capita, and the spontanes for checking waste at the gallous per capita, and the spontanes for checking waste at the gallous per capita, and the spontanes for checking waste at the gallous per capita, and the spontanes for checking waste at the gallous per capita, and the spontanes for checking the same time as the amount required daily. This would call for 201,000,000 gallons daily, at dail the spontage fo

Accompanying the report was a tabulated state-ment of the flow of the Croton fiver during the frouth of 1880-81. Based on this, and the flow of the river during the months when the drouth did not prevail, Mr. Church said:

To supply the city with 150,000,000 gallons daily there would have to be stored 23,155,130,500 gallons. At present the storage capacity is 3,000,000,000 gallons.

RETRENCHMENT IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS ME, JASPER'S PLAN-TEACHERS' SALARIES-CHARGES AGAINST A PRINCIPAL.

AGAINST A PRINCIPAL.

Commissioner Patterson presided at the Board of Education meeting yesterday. School Superintendent Jasper recommended a number of changes in the public schools, which would save the city, he said, $26,000 a year, and greatly improve the method of instruction. He suggested that in the First Ward the male and female departments of School No. 29 be consolidated, as well as the two male and two female departments of School No. 19 be consolidated, as well as the two male and two female departments respectively in the VIth Ward; that in the VIth Ward the male department of School No. 31 be discontinued, and the teachers and pupils transferred to No. 12; that the male and female departments of School No. 18, in the VIIIth Ward, be consolidated; that Primary School No. 18, in the IXth Ward, he discontinued and the teachers and pupils transferred to the primary department of No. 16; that the two male and female departments respectively in the XIVth Ward be consolidated, and that in the XVIIth Ward, Primary School No. 23 be discontinued, and the teachers and pupils transferred to Frimary School No. 27. The report was ordered printed for consideration at the next meeting.

A petition was received from the twenty-five teachers in Primary School No. 13, in the XVIIth Ward, asking that the Board at once audit their bills for February and March, which have not been paid. The reason is that the name of Miss Anniell. Gleece appears on the roll. She was reduced several grades at Trustee Horgan's instance, and the Board ordered her restored with full pay. The teachers urge their necessities, and say that several of them have others dependant upon them. The petition was referred to the Committee on By-laws. Charges recently preferred by Superintendent Jasper against John J. Doane, principal of the male department of Grammar School No. 19, alleging neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming a teacher, and specifying that he was absent from his post from May 29 to June 20, 1883, October 8 to 26, 1883, and February him. Mr. Doane admitted a charge of intoxication as to October, but said that on the other occasion he was sick. The committee found proof that he was also intoxicated in June, and that he was also intoxicated in June, and that he were to New-Haven. Connecticut, to have his spreed out. They recommended that notwith standing his long and taithful service, as his example to the younger teachers and pupils was bad, he be dismissed The resolution was laid over, under the rule for action at the next meeting. Mr. Doane is seventy-two years old, and has been in the public school service for about thirty years, with a short intermission. He was elected Register at one time, and was well off, but he had too many "friends" to help him waste his fortune, and he was obliged to return to teaching. Assistant Treasurer Thomas Acton was once his backer.

The Board adjourned to meet next Wednesday.

THE FERRY-BOAT ASSAULT MYSTERY. KRIEGER'S STATE DANGEROUS-HIS STATEMENT

PLANS FOR A NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The Rev. J. M. Brophy, pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, (Roman Catholic), yesterday filed plans for a church building to be erected on the north side of Fifty-first-st., between Ninth and Tenth avex., at a cost of $100,000. The building will be constructed of stone and brick, and will be two stories in height. UNACCOUNTABLE. Stories in height.

AFTER FOURTEEN YEARS.

The fourteenth anniversary of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, in Suffolk-st., near Graud-st., will be celebrated on Sunday. The pastor, the Rev. Samuel Alman, will preach in the morning; Dr. Thomas Armitage and the Rev. Messrs. John Humpstone, George H. Andrews and J. J. Bronner will speak in the afternoon. There will also be evening exercises.

RRIEGER'S STATE DANGEROUS—HIS STATEMENT USACCOUNTABLE.

Frederick Henry Krieger, the man who said that he was murderously assaulted on Monday night on the James Rumsey, noe of the Hoboken terry-boats, running to and from Barciay-st., lies in a precarious condition at the Chambers Street Hospital. Dr. Jessup, the house surgeon, told a Tribune reporter yesterday that it was impossible to say whether he would live or die. The bullet had carried away two of his teeth and had gone to the left of his head, but could not be found. There was great swelling under the left jaw, extending up the left cheek to the eye. P. J. Laurens, the chief tuner of the Beatty Organ Company, came from Washington, N. J., to see him, but was not allowed to do so. He said that Krieger was universally liked and respected, and that his habits were known to be regular.

Captain Berchold said that the police were debarred from acting with any vigor in the case until the wounded man made a more circumstantial description of his assalant. He had sent a detective to Hoboken to see the deckhands of the ferry-boat, and he had seen the money-taker at the Barclay-st. ferry-house. They knew nothing of the occurrence. He regarded the case as a most mysterious one. The man's clothes had been examined and there were no marks of violence. His eye-glasses kept on his eyes through a 1 the struggle. He must have been thirty-three minutes in the water, in a wounded condition, when he cried for help. The ebb tide at 2 o'clock was running strongly, and it seemed a miracle that a man thrown into the middle of the North River with a bullet in his head should have had strength to swim across the carrent and get with 200 feet of the bulkhead of Pier No. 3. The thought that something was being hidden, and that during the three hours from 10:30 p. m., when he left the Thalia, to 1:30 a. m., when he is supposed to have boarded the James Runsey, more passed than he chooses to tell. When the Captain asked him if he was intoxicated, he answered: "I had considerable taken

FINDING TWO DEAD BODIES IN A HOTEL.

While chambermaids in the Aster-Place Hotel, at No. 25 Third-aye, were making up beds after 2 p. m. yesterday, they found two dead bodies—ene, that of a woman, in a room on the third floor, and the other, that of a man, in a fourth-story room. The man was a slender youth of eighteen or nine-teen years, with dark hair and eyes, the registered late on Thesday night as "J. ons Lindon." He did not give any address, and there was nothing to show where he lived. Probably he had no home, as his pockets were empty and his clothing betokened poverty He had shot himself in the head with an old pistol. On the washstand in his room was found the following brief note explaining his death:

I, Gus Lindon, have committed suicide. Good bye. FINDING TWO DEAD BODIES IN A HOTEL.

BOTH LEGS CRUSHED UNDUR A CAR.

About twenty men and boys who were riding on the platforms of two freight cars drawn by four horses through the Fourth-ave, tunnel at noon yesterday, were frightened by Koundsman Deeves, of the Iwenty-first precluct, who ran toward them with his club uplifted. In the general scramble from the platforms Henry Koehler, age fourteen, of No. 147 East Seventy-third-st, was pushed under the forward trucks of the rear car. Both his legs were broken and bruised badly, but at the Bellevue Hospital it was thought that he would recover. I, Gus Lindon, have committed suicide. Good bye. I, Gus Lindon, have committed suicide. Good bye.

The woman was large and not more than twentyfive years old. She went to the hotel with a young man who registered as John D. Ligon, and who left the place previous to her death. Before her body was found in bed the door of the room was forced open. Evidently she had closed and locked it after the departure of her companion. The clerks and porters of the hotel could not tell when he went away, nor could they give any description of him. There were no marks of violence on her body, and no evidence that she had taken poison. In a small reticule which she had carried to the hotel were pawn tickets and receipts which led to her identification as Bella Swartz, a

ESCAPING FROM A WATER-SPOUT.

The steamship African, which arrived here yesterday from Baracea, reported that on April 11, in latitude 26° north, longitude 74° 42′ west, a wreek was sighted. After running close to her a boat was lowered to make a survey of her condition. She was a large schooner, capsized, and apparently new. Her name could not be ascertained.

On Sunday morning, about half-past 5, the yessel was struck by a squall which blew with terrifice force for about thirty seconds, tearing the foresail and other sails into ribbons, and lifting one of the large boats out of the gussets. Previous to the squall a large waterspont was observed about three miles west-northwest of the vessel, and when the squall subsided the spout was only about a quarter of a mile distant. Fearing that it would break over the vessel and swamp her, the twelve-pounder gun was double-charged and fired into the spout, which birts with a great noise. A tumnitions sea was caused for two or three miles around and the yessel labored hea illy for a time. vessel labored heavily for a time.

A BROADWAY STAGE'S BURST OF SPEED.

A BROADWAY STAGE'S BURST OF SPEED.

A Broadway stage moved slowly down Broadway last night, reaching Twelfth-st, at five minutes before eight o'clock. A handsome woman arose and standing on her toes to reach the hole through which change is passed, addressed the driver thus:

"Oh, driver, if you will drive very fast till you get to Niblo's I will give you a quarter."

The woman was jerked to her seat at the crack of the whip, and the other passengers smiled and held their breath as the stage dashed away. Would-be passengers gazed in wonder at the flying vehicle, which stopped not in its mad rattle over the bumps and holes of Broadway till it stood in front of "The Garden," The woman handed up her quarter and got out, and the rest of the trip of that stage was not remarkable for speed.

TAKING A LEAP IN THE DARK.

John C. Kenuedy, of No. 28 West Eleventh-st., while standing on a ferry-beat at Hunter's Point, last night, about 10 o'clock, saw a well-dressed man walk to the bow of the boat and jump into the water. The boat, which had just started, was immediately stopped and an effort made to rescue the suicide. No trace of him was discovered, and it is not known who he was.

A BLIND MAN WHO WOULD SEE A HANGING.

Theodore Hoffman, whose execution is to take place to-morrow for the murder of Zife Marks, the Hebrew pedler, near Port Chester, remains indifferent to his doom. It is believed that he will walk to the gallows with a firm step and protest his entire innocence of the crime. It is understood that he has prepared a brief speech to be delivered at the scaffold. The Rev. Mr. Van Kleeck, rector of Grace Church, at White Plains, who has visited Hoffman as his spiritual adviser, stated yesterday that Hoffman seemed to take a deep interest in his ministrations. Sheriff Horton received many applications for admission to the jail yard, most of which he has been obliged to refuse. Among the applicants whose requests the Sheriff has granted is that of a blind man of Port Chester, who wants to see the hanging. A blind young woman living in Harrison applied to the Sheriff a few days ago to visit Hoffman. Her request was granted and she had a long conversation with him, and yesterday she repeated the visit. Hoffman's mother and sister visited him and had an affecting interview on Sunday, and an arrangement has been made for his parents to take charge of the body.

because he was well to-do. But she objected to a slight difference in their ages, and bestowed her affactions upon Francis Connly a village youth who had been her school fellow. After much importunity, however, Miss Frawley consented to marry Mr. Halloran, and last Monday evening was the time set. Accordingly on Monday evening Miss Frawley, her mother, Mr. Halloran, his sister and John Hardy went to the house of Father Campbell, of St. Mary's Church. The derryman wentunstairs to prepare the certificate, and Miss Frawley made an excuse, and stepped outside this door. Several minutes passed, and she did not return. A search was made for her without avail, and the disconsolate Mr. Halloran returned serrowfully home with Mrs. Frawley. A woman in the house said that Miss Frawley and declared that she would marry "her Francis" in spite of all opposition, and the next day it was learned that Conniy and Miss Frawley had gone by the 11 p. m. boat to this city.

Mrs. Frawley said yesterday:

I never was so surprised or heartbroken in my life. My Delia was the flower of the family. She was very, very pretty. She was a good and generous daughter, faithful in attending church services. Delia kept company with Francis Counly two years ago. After a year they quarreled, and did not go near one another for six months. Then John Halloran came down from New-York one day and met Delia. He is about therty-five years old, I think, and Delia is infucteen. Mr. Halloran is very well-to-do and a very likely man. He took a strong fancy to Delia, and I know

He took a strong faney to Delia, and I know she soon loved him. But Mr. Connly must have grown anxious to get her back again and I suppose they arranged the clopement. I don't see how Delia could ever do such a thing. Mr. Halloran felt terribly. He stayed at mr house mitl last night and then went back to his boarding-house. He said that he would not dare show his face except after dark, he felt so ashamed. Mr. Connly had a carriage waiting for Delia as soon as she left the parsonage, and five minutes after Halloran had left Counly and Delia went to Father Campbell and asked him to marry them. He rafused, and Mr. Connly drove over to Factoryville, but the priest there also refused to marry them. Then they went to New-York, but were refused by two priests there. Delia, I know, would not do wrong, so as soon as she found out they could not be married she came back to Staten Island, and is staying with a friend." start from the club-house at New-Brighton.

New-Dorr,—William H. Vanderbilt has deeded to the Moravian Church Society ten acres of land in consideration of $7,000. The land formerly belonged to Commodore Vanderbilt, and adjoins the Morav an Cemetery, in which is the Vanderbilt mausole in that was built some years ago, and will be replaced this summer by the new one that Richard M. Hant has designed to cost $90,000. The property as lately been improved and laid out in driveways walks and plots, and contains a pretty miniat reprice is considered nominal, as the improvements cost more than the price paid. PEACOCK SAYS HARKINGTON DID IT.

The Court of Sessions in Jersey City was crowded yesterday at the trial of Dr. Rufus W. Peacock and John D. Harrington. District Attorney Winfield read a letter from Harrington to Secretary Warnock in which he stated that he could not act as trustee in the case of Martha Dinaus and that Dr. Peacock had also refused to act. In a post-script he asks: "When are you to fix poor Corey?" Corey was the man in connection with whose case Peacock and Harrington were previously tried. Ex-Judge Hoftman, for the defence, placed Harrington on the stan!. He denied that he ever knew Martha Dinaus. The counsel handed him her application for membership "endorsed and recommended by John D. Harrington," and asked: "Is that your signature is

Dr. Peacock testified that he had attended Mrs.
Dinans professionally before she was admitted to the order. He did not consider her a good risk, but thought she was a fair one. He and Harrington became trustees at her request. One day Harrington proposed to change the beneficiary, but the witness objected. Harrington filed out the application in his (Peacock's) house, and signed the certificate, there in his presence. Peacock added that Harrington, after he knew of Mrs. Dinans death, wrote on the certificate: "Martha Dinans, her X mark." The witness, Harrington and Mrs. Dinans had an understanding that the beneficiary of the insurance should receive $1,000, the witness $2,000 and Harrington $2,000. Her assessments were paid proportionately by the three.

Harrington was recalled and denied Dr. Pencock's testimony. The counsel began to sum up and the case will be given to the jury to-day. County Teachers' Institute began in the Presby-terian Church on Tuesday. Over 200 teachers were present last evening. They were entertained at the Sherman House by Heury Havemeyer, the sugar refiner, of New-York.

IMPORTED BONNETS AND HATS.

J. G. Johnson, of No. 8 East Fourteenth-st., importer of fine millinery goods, is displaying a special spring importation of French bonnets, untrimmed hats and bonnets of straw in all the fashiomable shapes. A tiny capote bonnet is shown with a square crown of white crèpe de Chine, embroidered with gold cord and Roman pearls. The rolled brim of the bonnet is of early velvet, velled by a fail of lace embroidered with gold. A high cluster of white marabout feathers trims the bonnet on top, which is finished with red velvet. The strings of red velvet are caught to the bonnet by slender pins of gold. Another bonnet, with a full crown of gold net, is bordered with soft frills of gold lace, run with narrow folds of velvet in musbroom brown. A cluster of natural looking musbrooms trim the top, and strings of velvet in musbroom brown complete the bonnet. A beautiful little bonnet of white lace over gold wires is made with a soft, full crown and finished with a plaiting of gold lace set in the brim. A cluster of wheat-head polyanthus and grass is over the top. A little princess bonnet with a long crown is shown of shirred crape in pale beige color. A full puffed brim of dark brown velvet and a cluster of Africau marigolds in gold and prown shades, with strings of brown velvet, complete ft. A hat in Princess Ida shape, is shown in fine Belgian straw; the straight brim is faced with brown velvet and bordered with gold braid. A fill of Oriental lace run with gold threads, and a twist velvet in golden brown shades eauch by a bright bronze ornament set with a light every time the crown. One snowy plume borders the brim in front and another the back, falling at the right side. Another hat in cresson shades is of fine straw: the high crown is surrounded by a twist of dark green ve vet, and finished at the side by a cluster of tips shading from the pale green of the straw to dark green of the velvet twist. A golden shepberd's croek, set with Rhine stones is thrust through the straw at the side, and a facing of dark green velvet J. G. Johnson, of No. 8 East Fourteenth-st.

PATERSON.—John Woolley was elected a member of the Eoard of Freeholders in Paterson on Monday. Yesterday several persons serenaded him. While the attention of the family was attracted by the music burglars entered the house in the rear, and going to the front part, which is occupied by a liquor dealer, heiped themselves to several bottles of gin, a lot of cigars and a wailet filled with papers. The serenaders and it he burglars disappeared simultaneously on the approach of a policeman. Stephen Baker was subsequently found drunk and on him were found the papers stolen from Mr. Woolley. —A person whose name is not disclosed has told a large story concerning the stealing of A. T. AN APPEAL FOR IMPROVED CATTLE CARS

The United States law to protect animals during transports also by rail provides that, when they are carried in cars in which they can be fed, watered, and have read, its requirement that animals shall be unloaded every 28 hours, and then have a read of 5 hours, shall not apply to animals in such cars. The law prevents starvation and too long confinement in cars 80 FAR AS IT IS OBEVED by the railroad companies, and its existence and enforcement are of the first necessity while the common stock cars are used, but the relocating at the stopping places is attended with much crueity, it being naturally hard to set the good read of the interest of the stopping places is attended with much crueity, it being naturally hard to set the good retained have a ready so suffered, without blows, or worse.

To weet this want of an improved car the American Humasse Association offered a price of five thousand dollars : $0,000 for such a car in 1880, to stimulate the inventors ability of the country. One of its conditions was that the patents on the approved car should be given to the Association that the carnicist be offered to the railroad companies by it free from charges of royalty.

But the owners of the best inventions decided not to compete for the price, thinking that their cars would prove mere valuable to them than the five thousand dollars. Accordingly, the price could not be awarded. The offer however, caused the construction of CARS WHICH MEET THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE LAW, and the trustees of the find take MENTS OF THE LAW, and the trustees of the find take and stockholders of Railroad Coupanies, and to all humase people whose healths have been touched by the atrocities of the trailine.

So long as the common ear is used the words of Senalar McPherson, of New-Jersey, will continue true: "I declare the five stock traffic to be one long and uninterrupted line of safering from the West to the East." The sanitary objections are also of the gravest character.

The great success of refrigerator cars is lessening the next per of unimals transported alive; but there must always remain such a traffic in them as to make the improved car a permanent necessity. main such a traffic in them as to make the improved car a permanent necessity.

To avoid all misrepresentions on the subject, we add that neither the Association or any of its officers have a pecuniary interest in any of the cars above named.
